Organ Music Sets Mood For Reign of 1954 Queen, Court

• NELL WEAVER, CROWNED 1954 May Queen at last Friday's May Day ceremonies at Lisner Auditorium, reigned supreme over a court of 12 lovelies from Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Under the direction of Lyn Henderson, the entire production through the settings, the lights and the smoothness through which all was accomplished, greatly complemented the crowning of the Queen by Glenn Archer.

A prelude of organ music set the mood while court jesters danced out onto the stage. A few moments later they led the glee club to the stage. Directed by Dr. Harmon, the club sang a medley of familiar songs.

Then, to the melody of Pomp and Circumstance, the procession of 32 students elected to Who's Who in American Colleges came slowly down the aisle, pausing before the steps to the stage while they were announced by the Chamberlain, William Callahan. Each of the ladies was led to her place on the side of the throne.

Next to come on stage were the honor guard of the AFROTC, who formed an arch with pointed sabers. Mimi Koehl, little six-year-old flower girl, followed the honor guard and with a quick smiling shrug over her left shoulder, walked through the arch and off stage.

When last, the name of the May Queen was announced, all heads turned and Nell Weaver, dressed in full-skirted white net, proceeded down the center aisle. She walked through the arch and up to the throne where, a few moments later, Glenn Archer crowned her Queen of the May.

The setting was mostly in pastels and was highlighted by a large, ornate chandelier in the center of the stage before the throne.

After the crowning of Nell the remainder of the evening was dedicated to the announcement of the winners of the Hillel literary contests and various sports and general awards.

In the literary contest, Willard Clifton won the short story award; Stephen Hunt won in the essay and Norman Gigli won in poetry.

Betty Kolonia presented the cup given by the Women's Rec. (See MAY DAY, Page 4)

Junior College Holds Meeting, Fetes Koenig

• A COMBINED MEETING of the Junior College students faculty will be held Friday, at 12:10 p.m. in Lisner Auditorium, it was announced today by University officials.

The meeting will be in honor of Dr. Myron L. Koenig, professor of American history and dean of the Junior College, who will leave at the end of this month for a two-year leave of absence as chief cultural officer for the United States Information Agency's Public Affairs Office in the United Kingdom.

All former students of Dean Koenig are invited to the meeting.

At the meeting, the acting dean of the Junior College to replace Dean Koenig while he is away will be introduced.

Yearbook Distribution Pushed; Cherry Tree Stresses Color

• THE 1954 CHERRY TREE is being distributed this week to those who purchased it in the advance sale and to anyone who may wish to buy it now.

Using the theme, "Washington, George Washington and You," the staff under the co-editorship of Pete Renz and Carlene Parker, has attempted to bring together the memorable experiences of the 1953-54 school year.

Students Elect Officers, Brown Wins Presidency

• TOM BROWN DEFEATED John Buckingham for the presidency of the Student Council in a close race in last week's election.

A total of 1155 students voted for the office of president. In the highly competitive office of member-at-large the total number of votes cast ran only

Light Support Leads to End Of Dramatics

• AFTER A SEASON of artistic success, but financial embarrassment, the University Dramatic Activities Program has been discontinued by the University.

The four plays given this year—"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," "Sing Out Sweet Land," "The Corn is Green," and "The Imaginary Invalid"—did not receive the support needed to keep up the program.

Three University officials were contacted by the HATCHET. President Cloyd H. Marvin said, "The Administration is working with the Faculty Committee on Dramatic Activities to provide a solution to the problem, and to work out a plan for next year. Two or three approaches to the problem are being worked out. The possibility of having students participate to the extent of being assistant directors has been discussed. Students must play a more vital part."

A good deal of money has been put into the drama program, and the University has not gotten very much back. When developing the budget, myself, Dean Colclough, who is very interested in dramatics, Dr. Tupper, Committee chairman, Professor Leggett, a member of the Committee, and others felt we were not justified in asking the Board of Trustees to spend money on dramatics, as dramatics were not reaching the students.

Student leaders will be called in to meet and confer with the Committee at an early date."

Dr. Tupper, Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Dramatic Activities, said, "Mr. Callahan has made a very valiant assault upon an enormously difficult situation, and there has not been anything (See DRAMA, Page 5) second to that of the president. The ballots elected Jim Rudin over his competitor Joe Holup to the office.

Corky Devlin won in a landslide for the vice-presidency over Erma Flores. Jay Brown defeated Mark Spies for the advocate post. This office matched the spirit of the member-at-large race, both polling 1090 votes.

In a battle for comptroller Roy Barnard surpassed Betty Lou Anderson by 62 votes. Aphie Macotsin was victorious in the three-nominee fight for secretary. Dottie Miller was elected for activities director over Lorna Ridyard. In two uncontested offices Barbara Stuart was named freshman director, while Bobbie Ruth Moore was named program director. Betsy Silver defeated Carol Picton for the office of publicity director.

Arthur Kirsch, Lucille Anstine and Beau Martin all ran for chairman of the student union board with Arthur Kirsch winning.

Joe Hince, Bill Hix and Bev Borden competed for Junior College representative. Joe Hince winning. Ed Jaffe was elected Columbian College representative, Shirley Floyd, School of Education representative, and Dayton Coe, School of Government representative.

The candidates and the total number of votes cast for each are as follows:

Gate and Key Hosts University Sororities; Inaugurates Officers

• GATE AND KEY gave their second inter-sorority-fraternity cocktail party of the year on Sunday, May 9, at the Sigma Nu House.

Having invited all the sororities to the first such party at the beginning of the semester, the Gate and Keyers decided to give a repeat performance. They are also planning a similar celebration for this coming fall.

In addition, the recently-elected officers of Gate and Key were socially inaugurated at this last event of the school year. Those taking office were: Bob McGrath of Sigma Chi as president; Jim Adams, Delta Tau Delta, vice president; Harry Thayer, Acacia, secretary; Bill Dunning, PIKA, treasurer.

The new committee chairmen were: Horace Davis, TKE, Social Committee; John Buckingham, SAE, Publicity Committee; and Marv Rosenblatt, Phi Alpha Alumni Relations Committee.

Working on the preparations for the party with Social Committee Chairman Horace Davis were Ken Callaway of Sigma Nu and Gate and Key Past-President, Hal Mesirov of Phi Alpha.

Commenting on the success of Gate and Key parties, Bob McGrath quipped, "We never plan. We find that things just happen."

ODK Chooses New Officers

• THE LOCAL CHAPTER of Omicron Delta Kappa recently elected officers for the school year 1954-55. Ted Lynch will serve as president, and Jim Rudin will be vice-president. Jim Merow is slated to be treasurer, while Professor Vincent DeAngelis will hold down the important secretary's office.

"We of ODK hope that next year will see many improvements in campus activities. Our project will be a complete analysis of extracurricular activities through a special committee headed by Jim Rudin.

The committee will work with the Student Council and the administration. Although all details have not been completed, we feel it will work out very well," states Ted Lynch.

ODK is the men's leadership honorary on the campus. Next year's president and vice-president will be seniors, while the treasurer is a law student. The Circle's secretary is a faculty member. Thus, ODK embraces all sections of University life.

Bob Bloch, chairman of the admissions committee, recently presented a revised admission plan.

Swyter Sees ROTC Review, Give Prize

• CULMINATION OF THE AFROTC program for this academic year will be the parade and award program on Friday at 1 p.m.

Limited bus service will take students from Mr. Joe Lane to the site of the parade, Constitution Ave., between 22nd and 23rd streets.

Womens' Club Hears Report

• THE FACULTY Women's Club of the University will be the guests of Mrs. Winfred Overholser for luncheon at her home next Friday at 12:45 p.m.

Following the luncheon, Dr. Overholser will give a talk to the club.

Mrs. Charles Bliven and Mrs. Walter Bloedorn, together with wives of faculty members from the Schools of Pharmacy and Medicine, will assist in receiving the guests.

Miss Virginia Kirkbride, president of the club, will conduct the business meeting, at which time annual reports will be submitted and election of new officers held.

How many Indians make a reservation?

whose aching back,
did you say?

Once there was a Sophomore who was planning a Whale of a Weekend in New York. Being a Man of Foresight, he carefully packed his copy of "New York Confidential," his compilation of Terrific Manhattan Numbers, and his list of Solvent Alumni in the Big City. Likewise 1 clean shirt, 1 toothbrush, 1 razor and 1 package of Sen-Sen. He was Ready.

Just then his roommate came up with a Tip for the Traveler. "Hey," he said, "have you wired ahead for your Hotel Reservation?"

Our Hero guffawed. "Don't be dull," he answered. "I'll make up my mind where I want to stay when I get there. New York is Full of Hotels."

He was right. New York is full of hotels. On this particular weekend, however, it was also full of People. Political convention.

Oh, he's all right again now. Two nights on a bench in Central Park never killed anybody. The thing that bothered him most was the Squirrels. He thought they were looking at him Oddly.

If you're Going Somewhere and want a Roof Over Your Head, it's smart to make reservations by Telegram. (Western Union even has a special Hotel Reservation Service you can call to Make the Arrangements for anything from a One-Night Stand to a Transcontinental Trip.) • "VIOLETS ARE BLUE, roses are red; I hope with you that the five is dead." Thought of the week. Perhaps it is all to the good that we never discovered who they were . . . And in any case, the free beer was enjoyed by many students on last Wednesday afternoon. Well, they lost my copy for last Tuesday, after having the poor taste not to print it, so them as had news in same will just have to bear up . . . But this past week, as we all know, was not entirely newless. Orchids and ticker tape to all the winning candidates. It's a shame everybody couldn't win . . . then we could all have a party and wallow in inefficiency. But the campaigning was fun, wasn't it, men!

Beer, Beer, Beer

FLASH: The most unusual thing about the Phi Sig victory party is that the beer outlasted the people. Everybody was dead long before the beer gave out. Question of the night was What Phi Sig and two SAE's, accompanied by a case of whiskey and three lovely women ended up at Herald Harbor beach? . . . Ed ("the Pirate") Turco sunk his first vessel. His own. It all happened at the intramural sailing regatta . . . Jim Biller made District paper headlines when his motorboat took command of the situation and tossed him for a swim . . . The Phi Sigs Coronation Ball turned out to be a real party, and the man directly responsible is Ed Turco.

Ruth Berryman was chosen as the new moonlight girl of Phi Sig . . . among the merrymakers was Frank Morrison, and his beautiful date, KKG Lillian Menne. The Floyd sisters, SK, were also seen, looking charming . . . Surprise of the evening was the pinning of Joe Marchesano and Dottie Leonard.

(How many?) Between dances, most of the rough and ready characters made like a stationary hayride, and, between ear-splitting blasts from Whit Minkler's trusty old gun, tried to make conversation. Some of the costumes were of an original sort. One brother came in an interestingly confused combination of a beachcombers' rags and Mahatma Gandhi's loincloth. Tom Brown, new Student Council prexy, honored the assembled cowboys and Indians with a visit. High point of the evening came when Mary Schooley, last year's Belle of the Ball, charged onto the dance floor on horseback to crown this year's Belle—Vera Allen.

The Great Apes

A brawl-type picnic was had by AEPI Sunday, out at Great Falls. Those brothers who had recovered from Friday night's parties went along with their dates, and Bert (The Bard) Kerish and his uke kept the company happy . . . the only casualty was Al Miller, who nearly fell into the C&O canal chasing a softball. More civilized if no less fun was the AEPI Spring Formal at the Hotel 2400 Saturday before last. About 100 couples danced to the music of Howard Devron's band . . . Shirley Rudolph was chosen AEPI Queen . . . the order of the AEPI garter was presented to Rosa Weiner, Jo Ann Levinson, and Marion Kilsheimer.

Barry Daniel got the drinking cup, awarded to the brother remaining longest in a vertical position.

All this lovely weather (yeah?) has put the ZTA's in a picnic mood . . . Sunday they invited their profts to a picnic at Rock Creek Park . . . Professors Johnson, Legette, and Protzman joined in the badminton, and everybody had a mad time.

You, The 'Peepul'

• LAST WEEK, perhaps without realizing it, you "peepul" of the University were treated to one of the best-engineered election periods in recent years.

You "peepul" became aware that elections were approaching a full three weeks before time to ballot. S. C. Advocate Frank Haynes was starting an excellent publicity campaign. As election week began Haynes put on the pressure. You were excused from classes forty-five minutes early to hear campaign speeches, although not many of you showed up. Haynes and his committee draped "VOTE" tags on you; huge banners blazed the same slogan at you.

Came Wednesday and Thursday, and because you couldn't help being aware of it, you "peepul"—some of you—had voting on your minds. And it was easy for you to vote; easier than it has ever been. Members of the election committee not only opened voting booths on time but kept them open for a longer time. Leaders in the races were posted at the close of the first day of balloting—an innovation in Council elections. During the last hours of the elections Advocate Haynes was even called on to convince the District gendarmes that one block of "G" Street wasn't actually an illegal carnival.

The week didn't end with elections. On Friday night Activities Director Lyn Henderson "took the ball" from Haynes. The return of May Day as a separate entity, under Miss Henderson's supervision, was well-planned and excellently staged. One hour and a half of awards presentation is not usually a thrill-provoking thought, but careful planning and effective rehearsal, plus injection of Glee Club and Dance Production numbers, resulted in a highly interesting and rapidly-moving program. The announcement of the election results put the final touch on the program.

There's the week. You "peepul" who watched from classroom windows, crept through Colonial Lane into the back door of the Union, and hoarded Ballot Ticket No. 30 in your student book—you "peepul" contributed nothing and gained nothing. You who participated in it, you, the active students, should appreciate the forethought and effort which made the 1954 elections an example of good student government.

New Council Prexy Praises Big Turnout

[NOTE: Mr. Brown was elected last week as President of the Student Council at the University. This letter is in the form of a message to the student body.]

Dear Editors,

I would like to congratulate everyone for the enthusiasm shown in the election campaigns. The enthusiasm demonstrated and the large vote cast indicates, in my opinion, that GWU students do have school spirit and are anxious to promote it when given the opportunity to do so.

It was gratifying to observe the time and interest expended by the candidates for office in the desire to show their sincerity. The sad part about elections, of course, is that someone has to lose. But it seems to me the efforts of those defeated were not wasted. Much good can and did develop from the campaigns.

First, they served to bring closer together various individuals of an organization that supported a candidate. This was done through the spirit of cooperative effort in attempting to achieve a common goal. Also they served to limit and resolve petty differences that marred friendships between individuals and organizations.

The winners on the other hand, while gaining an honor, have much to accomplish. Their work is just beginning, and they have the difficult job of showing those who voted for them that the choice was rightly made, and also showing those who voted for the other fellow that they can do a good job.

Concerning elections generally, it is true friction inevitably develops, but there are beneficial effects too. During the year, many students have neither the time nor the opportunity to meet others. Through a common interest in elections, students discuss qualifications with people other than their friends and thus make new acquaintances.

Results indicated that the presidential race was extremely close and the margin separating the two candidates was infinitesimal compared to the overall vote. This showed the high esteem held for the losing candidate. That this respect is justified can be seen through an occurrence after the elections. My opponent accepted an invitation and came to a celebration following May Day activities. In my opinion, it takes a man of strength and courage to stand before others in his hour of defeat.

At the May Day performance, I neglected to make an announcement concerning the Campus Combo. The committee requested that the victorious candidate remind everyone interested to return the Campus Combo pledges handed out with the programs as soon as possible.

Finally, I would like to thank sincerely the students of GWU for extending me the honor of representing them in their student government. I will try my best to justify the faith entrusted in me as president of the Student Council.

Sincerely,
Thomas A. Brown

Have You Met?

Frank Haynes

by Peggy Busick

• THE FRIENDLINESS AND ability that will lead him to success in his chosen field of public relations has enabled Frank Haynes to win and master many important positions on campus.

Busy Student

As Student Council Advocate Frank was busy supervising the elections. He can't miss being seen as he goes from the student union to the student activities office forty times a day. His other duties included advising the Council on its constitutional rights and powers and representing it before the Student Life Committee when necessary. In 1952 he was controller of the Student Council.

As a public relation major, Frank was a natural for publicity chairman of the Career Conference last year. This year he was in charge of the Homecoming pep rally which starred Denise Darcel. In his fraternity, Sigma Nu, he went from treasurer to president last fall.

His many activities earned Frank a place in Who's Who this year, but for "friendly Frank" the greatest reward is "to go down the street and know almost everyone you meet."

A Good Start

Activities have also given Frank a good start on his public relations career, for he says "properly chosen activities, meeting and dealing with people, are good experience." Frank says he found ideas to help in his various jobs from the public relations pamphlets he collects.

Frank worked on publicity for the Cherry Blossom Festival for the Board of Trade. He will be doing public relations work for them again this summer while he goes to summer-school for his last semester.

Student Hits Implied 'Bias'

Gentlemen:

It is obvious that Mr. Eisenberg did not take time to look into the qualifications of every candidate running for student council office before he wrote his column "The Informer." It appears that what little actual information he did have was from hearsay or personal friendship with the candidate, and the column was therefore not written in an unbiased manner and did not present all of the facts.

Had Mr. Eisenberg decided to merely present qualifications of the candidates, his column would have been of great help to the students in their choice for election, but it seems that even if he had decided to come out in favor of certain candidates, he should have done so all along the line.

This is in form of a censure to the board of editors for allowing "The Informer" to appear in print in the last edition of the "Hatchet."

Very truly yours,
Robert V. McGrath

On Other Campuses

Council Voted Out; Natural State Exists

by Joan Drey

• WITH THE WARP and woof of campus politics a thing of the past (Oh, no—TWO WEEKS till exams?!), On Other Campuses casts an eye on the campaign antics of collegiates around the country and notes that in spite of "The Five," the Sigma Nu's horse, and the bruised elbows acquired in running the G Street gauntlet, ours were relatively level-headed elections.

In last year's elections, the students of Millsdale College pulled a weird deal. Voting on a double ballot, they repealed their old government constitution and failed to pass a new one. The net result of this shrewd move was much sound and fury and no more student government. "A state of nature exists on this campus," exclaimed the surprised student newspaper. "We've committed political suicide."

Red Tape Cut

The University of Detroit this year found itself engulfed in the red tape of student administrative confusion, but found a simple, if undemocratic solution. The student council disbanded itself without going to the trouble of taking a vote from the student body. A new organization composed of the Student Union and the Women's League boards of directors was formed for the stated purpose of "strengthening students' voice in university affairs." This leaves us feeling a little puzzled, but maybe they heard about Millsdale College's troubles resulting from their council's suicidal faith in the intelligence of the voters.

"Congratulations, class of 1954," shouted the Dakota Student, newspaper of the University of North Dakota. "You've set a precedent. For the first time . . . a Senior class has held a constitutional election . . . Monday night 16 more seniors voted than was necessary for a valid election . . . but . . . it was still a failure in a sense. One hundred thirty-one ballots were cast; approximately 450 students are included in the class. What happened to the other 319 seniors?" Maybe they figured this constitutionality business could be carried to extremes?

A Junior Soph

The student senators of the University of Wyoming decided that their year's service to the university entitled them to a little judicial interpreting of their constitution. They ruled a coed candidate for the vice-presidency, Sue Sims, was a junior in spite of her official classification as a sophomore, and thus made her eligible to run for the office of vice-president. Said the registrar with a shrug of his shoulders, "I believe that they are stretching the constitution quite a bit, but it is of no concern of mine."

Speaking of campus politics, the greatest amount of politicking seems to have been done on the large campus almost in our backyard—Maryland University.

(Doubtless many of you saw the cute dark-eyed brunette on the front page of the Washington Post-Times Herald two weeks ago—none other than the editor of the Md. U. "Diamondback," Miss Elin Lake.) Elin was doing fine in her editorials on national and state politics until she started in on student politics.

Setting off the fireworks with a bang, Elin criticized the Student Government Association for tabling its business after a 30-minute meeting because they wanted to get to a basketball game.

"If the SGA has any hope of becoming a powerful student organization it must place the interests of the student body over the personal interests of the members." This dig didn't go over so well with the party in power. (Yes, Maryland actually has real honest-to-goodness political parties.)

Diamondback Ignores Squeaks

But, the Diamondback's pretty editor jumped into the game of politics with both feet. Carefully watching developments as they emerged from smoke-filled rooms, Elin decided, along with the other members on the editorial staff, that she would support a newly-formed party—the Terrapin Independents. This did not go over with the Powers either. The Diamondback paid no attention to their unhappy squeaks, however. "If this sounds like a warning, well then, it sounds like a warning," it said. Growing antagonism of the failure of elected SGA and class officers to fulfill their positions with energy and integrity . . . has been steadily mounting during the past few months."

This and other editorials were too much for the All-Maryland Party, who felt strongly that it was being discriminated against. Bill Kincaid, president of the All-Maryland Party, wrote a rather unpleasant letter to Elin, accusing her, among other things, of being obviously biased and of practicing yellow journalism. Undaunted, Elin painstakingly wrote a long editorial, explaining in words of one syllable, that what Mr. Kincaid claimed was yellow journalism was nothing more than an editorial opinion.

"The opposing political parties are free to use the Backtalk column of the Diamondback . . . to malign the editor personally or through publications, to denounce the editorial policies of the paper through the medium of radio, organized protestants or purposeful rumor," she said. "It seems that they have already recognized and utilized several of these freedoms."

Italy Offers Fellowships

• SIX FELLOWSHIPS for study in Italy are being offered to American graduate students by the Italian Government, the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th St., New York City, has just announced.

The awards, made available through the Cultural Relations Office of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, are for a minimum period of six months between October, 1954 and July, 1955. Closing date for applications is July 1, 1954. Men or women in any field may apply.

Embassy Offers Travel Money

The Italian Embassy in Washington has offered $300 to successful candidates to be used for round trip travel on an Italian ship or plane.

The fellowships, to be administered by the Institute's United States Student Department, are in keeping with the Institute's increased emphasis on Italo-American exchange. Last October it established a committee of advisers on exchange with Italy and is seeking to raise a $100,000 Italian fund, half in dollars, half in lire.

Each Italian Government grant bears a stipend of approximately $970. Free tuition will be given at a school or university for an entire academic year. Candidates in the musical field will be given extra funds for private lessons, with a small stipend being provided for travel inside Italy.

Candidates Must Have Master's

Candidates must be U. S. citizens, preferably under 35 years of age. Preference will be given to candidates who apply from the U. S. and have not had previous study in Italy. Applicants must have a master's degree or the equivalent in advanced work. They must submit a project for advanced study or research and must demonstrate capacity for independent study.

Although a knowledge of Italian is not required at the time of application, successful candidates are required to learn some Italian before taking up their fellowship. Free tuition will be given fellows who wish to attend the summer orientation course, held especially for foreigners, at the University of Perugia.

Campus Groups List New Officers For Next School Year

• THE UNIVERSITY chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, national collegiate journalism honorary, held election of officers Thursday night. John Stockton, HATCHET, is the new president, with Doris Johnson, Cherry Tree, vice-president. Sue Scott, HATCHET, is secretary and Leon King of Mecelev is treasurer. Betty Graham, Cherry Tree, was elected historian.

• SIGMA NU has announced the results of its recent elections: Ken Callaway, commander; Graham King, Lt. commander; Tony Shupe, recorder; Mark Spies, treasurer; Bruce Russell, reporter; and Herb Ware, chaplain.

• DRAWING FOR the Bermuda Trip, sponsored by Delta Gamma, was held last Monday, with Miss Kirkbride selecting the winning ticket. Of the hundreds of tickets sold in the Washington area, ironically enough the six-day vacation was won by Mrs. A. D. Hamby, 1008 West Latimer Street, Tulsa 6, Oklahoma. The winning voice was purchased by Mrs. Hamby's daughter, who lives here in the District, as a surprise for her mother.

Dorsey, treasurer; Hugh Newell, historian; Al Bruffey, pledge trainer; Jim Bowling, chaplain; Larry Baker, sergeant-at-arms.

• DEAN ELMER KAYSER will speak to the Canterbury group at their final Thursday lunch meeting this week at 12:30. Lunch begins at 12 noon, with dessert provided for everyone at this last gathering. Dean Kayser is chairman of College Committee of the Diocese and a vestryman at St. Albans Church.

• PHI ALPHA DELTA law fraternity inducted thirty-five men on May 1 at a joint George Washington University and Georgetown University chapter meeting. Inducted into George Washington's "Jay" chapter were: W. D. Huddle, R. M. Richmond, W. J. Driscoll, F. D. Thomas, Jr., David Bouck, Fernando Acevedo, Richard Dyer, Franklin Butterfield, J. E. Lahey, J. S. Brookbank, Jr., R. C. Nash, Jr., Lawrence Murphy, F. J. Hunziker, J. F. Dominguez, L. E. Laubscher, Jack Booney, H. M. Moore, T. H. Jones, C. A. Marlowe, R. L. Doan, J. M. Lane, J. H. Bastian, L. T. Brown, Ronnie Mayes and Joseph Bulman.

• THE SATURDAY Evening Post magazine will run an article on the University in the May 29 issue.

like it since Pickett's charge at Gettysburg. I hope that somehow, someday, in the near future, we will be able to carry Cemetery Ridge. Plans for the future are necessarily nebulous."

Dr. Leggett said, "I am hoping, and working, for the best. We are meeting with student leaders next week. The big problem is that the students have not supported drama this year. We have to find out what students will support. I hope we have some dramatics next year, and, if that is the case, then the Campus Combo will remain as originally planned."

TODAY'S QUIZ

WHAT MAKES A LUCKY TASTE BETTER?

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

A Lucky tastes better for two important reasons: 1. Lucky Strike means fine tobacco...light, mild, good-tasting tobacco.

2. That tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' fine tobacco... makes it taste even better—cleaner, fresher, smoother.

That's why a Lucky tastes better. And naturally, better taste is why thousands of college students prefer Luckies to all other brands.

So, enjoy better taste. Be Happy—Go Lucky!

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER cleaner, fresher, smoother!

May Queen Sees Mortar Board Tap

The names of those tapped are: Aphy Macotsin, president; Delta Gamma; Phyllis Ames, vice-president, Chi Omega; Mariette Schneider, secretary, Kappa Alpha Theta; Doris Johnson, treasurer, Pi Beta Phi; Carolyn Burk, Phi Sigma Sigma; Barbara Guarco, Alpha Delta Pi; Sue Scott, Chi Omega; and Pat Reed, Chi Omega.

Ann Page, Pi Beta Phi, was named the senior woman who throughout her college career has done the most constructive work in the furtherance of University student activities.

Barbara Stuart, Chi Omega, received the Mortar Board award as the outstanding sophomore woman. Phyllis Ames, Chi Omega, received the Alpha Delta Pi award presented to the outstanding junior woman.

Harold Mesriow was awarded the Omicron Delta Kappa prize given annually to the senior man who throughout his college career has done the most constructive work in furthering student activities.

Doris Johnson was introduced

• THE BOTANY CLUB has planned a picnic for its May meeting, which will be held from 3 to 7 p.m. on Saturday at Picnic Site 28B in Rock Creek Park. A prize for the best research paper submitted by a member of the Club will be awarded at that time.

The City of Washington Branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association will hold its monthly meeting on May 19 at 8:15 p.m. in Room 100 of the School of Pharmacy building. A film on drug addiction, issued by the U. S. Public Health Hospital at Lexington, Kentucky, will be shown.

The wives of the members of President's Eisenhower's cabinet and the wives of other governmental officials will be special guests at a Hospital Day Tea sponsored by the Women's Board of the University Hospital on Wednesday. The tea, which will be open to the public, will be held in the Main Conference Room of the Hospital from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The special guests will include Mrs. George M. Humphrey, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury; Mrs. Arthur E. Summerfield, wife of the Postmaster General; Mrs. Ezra Taft Benson, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture; Mrs. James P. Mitchell, wife of the Secretary of Labor; Mrs. Harold

H. Burton, wife of the Associate Justice of the Supreme Court; and Mme. Hussein, wife of the Ambassador from Egypt.

Two grants totaling $19,465 have been awarded to University scientists for the study of organisms involved in the resistance to and recovery from intestinal infections such as shigellosis, a form of dysentery which causes considerable trouble aboard U. S. Navy ships.

One grant for $10,000 was awarded by the Office of Naval Research, while the other for $9,465 was awarded by the National Institutes of Health.

The research provided for by these grants will be carried out under the direction of Dr. Leland W. Parr, professor of bacteriology, and Dr. Mary Louise Robbins, associate professor of bacteriology. They will attempt to learn how colicines, which are antibiotic substances produced by normal flora, and to find out whether colicines are premature forms of bacterial viruses, as is suggested by their similarity of action.

Police Plague Chicks In SC Election Race

by Joan Riley

• ALTHOUGH THIS is not an agricultural college, farm animals played a major part in the campaigning of many candidates, in the University Student Council elections. The unusual sound of a rooster crowing and horses plodding caused the slamming of many a classroom window.

But it would seem that some Washingtonians and University students don't appreciate such farm-like atmosphere. An unidentified woman, a University student, and a resident at Hotel Hawthorne, expressed her disapproval by phoning the 3rd Precinct Police headquarters.

A paddy wagon attached to a sergeant and several privates arrived about 5:30 p.m. According to these officers of the law the girls causing the "disturbance" were the hardest to stop. "They just paid no attention to orders to stop yelling," the officers said.

Frank Haynes, in charge of the election, talked to the Lieutenant at 3rd Precinct, and the chagrined officers of the law were ordered home. Thus, the horse, with its Sigma Nu rider yelling "Hark, Hark, vote for Mark," and the rooster with his two wives continued crowing "Us chicks is for Barnard," with a little prompting from the Sigma Nu's.

The only warrants served were on the three chickens. They were actually taken to the station and returned on the order of the Lieutenant.

After the fighting and the feuding were over, and the ballots counted, it appeared that "The Five" would have filled every office if they had had their way. Five votes for the Five were cast for each available position.

One University citizen not only wrote in names but cast his vote for a new office. He voted for "Joe Slump" in the office of "custodian of the girl's locker room."

Welling Hall was out in a unit; biggest write-in was Frank Kovak for program director.

Late Thursday night, a torn, bedraggled, Frank Haynes said in bewilderment, "I don't think the community is behind us in our Student Council election."

Speech Frat Initiates 11

• SIGMA ALPHA ETA, national speech and hearing honorary fraternity initiated eleven key members last Sunday at Woodhull House.

Barbara Wolf, president and Barbara Hughes, vice-president, installed the following members:

Dr. Sager To Receive Fellowship

• DR. WILLIAM FREDERICK Sager, Associate Professor of Chemistry, is one of eight area residents to be awarded a Guggenheimer Fellowship in physical and social sciences and humanities, it was recently announced. The award will permit him to do research in physical-organic chemistry.

Dr. Sager holds a bachelor of science degree and a master of science degree from the University and a doctor of philosophy degree from Harvard University.

While at the University, he was awarded the Byrne Thurtell Burns Memorial Prize, given to the outstanding senior in organic chemistry; and the Willie E. Fitch Prize, awarded annually to a senior student for the best examination in chemistry.

In 1949, Dr. Sager received a grant from the Research Corporation of New York City for two research projects dealing with the mechanism of reactions involving iodine and the synthesis and properties of the ketotriazines. This work was in the field of synthesis of penicillin.

Before joining the faculty of the University, Dr. Sager was engaged in industrial research.

Friend Wins Cup in Frosh Speech Fest

• THE FRESHMAN oratorical contest, which was held last week, was won by Charles Friend. His topic was "Faith of Freedom." The Phi Sig oratorical cup was presented to Friend by Ed. Turco. This contest is sponsored by Phi Sigma Kappa, social fraternity, to further all freshman oratorical abilities.

For his outstanding speech, Charles Friend will receive special recognition from President Marvin during orientation week. Charles is an honor student at the University and is a transfer student from Ohio. He is also a member of the AFROTC and he recently received a special cadet award.

Other outstanding orators in this contest were Eugene Lambert, James Biller, John Hayes and Peggy Busick.

The judges, were Dr. Calvin Pettit and Henry Knebs.

Student Council Reporter Criticizes School Apathy, Praises Retiring Officers

by Joan Lief

• EARLY IN THE semester President Glenn Archer presented to the outgoing Student Council an analysis of past actions of that body, and outlined what it must accomplish while still in office.

That Mr. Archer attempted such a "State of the Union" message establishes the law student's integrity and sincerity.

In this attempt to analyze the past performance of the Council, many of the outgoing officers have ventured improving student programs and boosting the support of campus activities.

Should the conscientious members of the Council remain unpaid for their efforts? Should they be criticized for failures such as the All-U Follies? It should appear mortifying to the student body that the valiant efforts of these few student officers result continuously in failure.

Apathy Responsibility?
Who is responsible for the perpetual apathy evidenced in school activities? Usually the students attack the Council as the guilty culprit, responsible for others' iniquities.

The Student Council has a major responsibility. In performing its functions, the Council should fulfill the valid desires of the voters. Negatively, the Council should not pursue a course where no student attention is held, or no interest expressed. The Council can never achieve success by forcing upon the student body what it does not desire.

How often the typewriter spells out the words apathy and responsibility. Perhaps these keys unlock the barrier to success.

Students Act as Poor Hosts
Student apathy has resulted in poor receptions at the many programs held at Lisner. As hosts to honored guests, the students display poor taste in their lukewarm reception. The program director continuously tried to get participation, but the unplanned, unrehearsed product at the All-U Follies proved her efforts to be of no avail.

Although a few Council members felt the responsibility their jobs called for, there were those who were unaware. Poor attendance was a too frequent occurrence in the outgoing Council. Although some members were absent for valid reasons, too many absences were due to lack of interest or laziness.

How much can a body accomplish, when part of the body participates little? How much can a body accomplish when its members join merely to add another office to their roster of activities?

Another feature adding ineffectiveness to the Council has been noticed in the lengthy, undirected debate. Although the body passed few motions, meetings were considerably drawn-out by haggling over minor issues. Some members might feel that a lengthy pursuance of a point designates the interest of the participants. What is called for by interested parties in a given measure is action, not words. If the Council would inject parliamentary procedure more frequently, it might result in more action.

Although the Snack Bar and Handbook, initiated by this council, go far to proclaim that the 1953-54 Student Council has proven its effectiveness, this cannot mean efficiency. Many students have argued that the university's governing board can do nothing. If this were true, the above credits could not be mentioned. The success of Homecoming would not be a reality.

The Student Council, because its past programs received little praise, may lose its function. With the increasing amount of uncontested offices, and little enthusiasm during elections, the students may find themselves without a student council in succeeding years. To win an election it should take more than noise.

Election Forums

Students pay little attention to forums where they may hear qualifications of candidates. To win an election, backing of organizations are necessary. But little is heard of the secret coalitions which are formed.

Perhaps it is unjust to rest failure on the Council. Perhaps the blame best rests on those who continually whine about school spirit, but who do nothing. Perhaps the shortcomings of any Student Council should be placed on the shoulders of those students who perpetually evade their responsibilities.

If those students who claim they desire to continue school activities are sincere, then it is hoped that they will realize and fulfill the demands which promote successful organizations. These organizations can become a success only when conscientious members devote their efforts, not to pressuring people to work or vote, for this pressure will turn away capable people, but to serving their organizations with constructive action always as their purpose.

Unworthy Oath

As the Student Council-elect takes its oath, let the student body take its unwritten oath to support the Council. Without the students' support, the new Council will be doomed. Unless students, who claim they want activities, realize their responsibility, a governing board is useless. The student body must now make its choice whether University activities will continue in a well-organized, efficient manner, or whether University activities will die from want of fresh air and water, the materials any living organism needs if it wants to survive.

Lost...

LOST—Any person finding the O.D.K. (Omicron Delta Kappa) plaque for "the outstanding senior man in activities" will receive a $5 reward upon returning the plaque to the office of Mr. Max Farrington.
